Baird's Sandpiper

The actual size of the Baird's Sandpiper is only 7.5 inches, but in autumn this buff-colored shore bird manages to migrate from the northernmost parts of North America all the way to South America. Found along shorelines, its rolling trill can also be heard near rainpools and mud flats.

This realistic and beautiful carving is mounted on a base painted to resemble moss and stones. The carving measures 7.5 inches from beak to tail, is 5 inches high and has an overall height of 6.5 inches. All of our life-size birds are hand-carved from basswood (a very carveable wood that does not split and takes paint well), feathered to show detail and painted with acrylic paint. The eyes are glass, feet are metal and base is wood.
