Description

Blue-Gray Gnatcatcher

The tiny slender Blue-gray Gnatcatcher has blue-gray upper feathers and white below. Found foraging in open woods and pine thickets, it cocks and flips its tail about. It ranges throughout the United States from coast to coast and into Mexico. The carving is perched on a birch log cut from the woods of New Hampshire.

All of our life-size birds are hand-carved from basswood (a very carveable wood that does not split and takes paint well), feathered to show detail and painted with acrylic paint. The eyes are glass, feet are metal and base is wood. The bird measures 4.5 inches from beak to tail, 2.25 inches from head to foot and the carving has an overall height of 3.25 inches.
