Description

THE LUCIFER HUMMING BIRD

The Lucifer Hummingbird is striking with its iridescent green feathers set off by a brilliant violet-purple throat and deeply forked tail. Found in the southwestern United States and Mexico, it lives among the blossoms of agave and yucca in scrublands and canyons. It feeds mainly on nectar but also on insects and spiders. It is attracted to feeders filled with sugar water, and while tiny, can be very aggressive in claiming its share at feeding stations.

This exquisite carving shows the hummingbird with its delicate wings spread. It is suspended in a flower on a wire stand and can be easily removed from the flower (or glued in, if you choose.)

All of our life-size birds are hand-carved from basswood (a very carveable wood that does not split and takes paint well), hand-feathered to show detail and painted with acrylic paint. The eyes are glass, feet are metal and base is wood.

The hummingbird carving measures 5 inches from beak to tail, is 2.75 inches high and with the stand has an overall height of 10.5 inches.
