Description

Marsh W

The trill of the Marsh Wren, a small brown bird with black and white streaking and a bold white eye stripe, is often heard throughout the tall reeds and cattails of the marshlands. The male builds several globe-shaped nests with side doors. The female selects one and adds a lining of feathers and shredded plants.

All of our life-sized birds are hand-carved from basswood (a very carveable wood that does not split and takes paint well), hand-feathered to show detail and painted with acrylic paint. The eyes are glass, feet are metal and base is wood. The carving has an overall height of 5 inches and the bird itself is 4.5 inches from beak to tail and 3 inches high.

Your satisfaction is guaranteed!
